Painted wooden doors in fashionable pastel shades have become increasingly popular but they come at a high price.

As an alternative ALFATHERM have developed their A98 embossing cylinder which replicates the paint effect finish, resulting in a far more cost effective alternative. With a silky matt surface and deep texture together with a mixture of grain effects taken from natural elements the design offers a very realistic appearance with the feel of true craftsmanship. ALFATHERM produce this foil in both 2D and 3D versions for either 5 piece profile wrapped doors or membrane pressed products.
